THE ANTI-MONOPOLY LEAGUE. CENTRAL CITY, August 14. The State Anti-Monopoly League will meet at Hastings, September 27, 1912...

Next to their candidates the thing about the Nebraska democrats is their platform.

Petz Schwenn as temporary chairman and Valentine as president of the convention would make a fat team.

THURSTON'S PROGRAMME.—Val for president of the convention, Dorsey for governor, and Church Howe for lieutenant-governor.

The balance of immigration still continues in favor of the United States to offset the unfavorable balance of trade. During August 43,076 immigrants landed on our shores.

New York holds her republican convention to-day. The leading candidates are Cornell, Secretary Folger and James Wadsworth, the latter the choice of the half breed, opponents of both the administration and Cornell.

The Chicago Times puffs J. Sterling Morton to the skies as the strongest democrat Nebraska could have nominated for the governorship, a man of brains and wealth.

Prices of railroad stocks continue buoyant, owing to the heavy earnings reported by the various trunk lines. These are larger than they have ever been.

At the present writing Turner's newspaper support consists of three journals in the Third district besides his own. Two of them are published at Kearney and one at Fremont.

The headquarters of the republican state central committee are for the next two days at room 10, Millard hotel. Delegates are requested to hand their credentials to Jas. W. Dawes, chairman, at an early hour on Wednesday as possible.

THE DUTY OF REPUBLICANS.

It is one of the misfortunes of heavy party majorities that the certainty of success tends to make nominating conventions careless of the character of the candidates whom they place before the party for its support at the polls.

Majority parties, in states where the majority is above successful dispute, inevitably become tyrannical. It matters little whether the majority is found in democratic states like Alabama or Mississippi, or in republican strongholds like Pennsylvania or Nebraska.

largely in excess of 500,000,000 bushels in an ascertained fact. Many insist that it will reach the extraordinary quantity of 600,000,000. Estimates based on our home consumption in past years place that consumption during the coming year at at least 300,000,000 bushels, which will leave us a surplus for export of from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000 bushels.

During the past ten years our wheat have been as follows: Fiscal Year, Bushels, Value, Price. 1882-83, 139,399,305 $149,391,773 $1.15 1883-84, 186,351,614 212,747,742 1.13 1884-85, 140,301,176 2,579,792 1.24 1885-86, 147,607,640 150,268,792 1.08 1886-87, 33,132,295 121,967,342 1.35 1887-88, 57,014,598 68,799,599 1.19 1888-89, 74,700,692 92,816,269 1.24 1889-90, 72,912,847 83,328,533 1.14 1890-91, 31,549,398 12,353,428 1.27 1891-92, 52,014,715 70,359,918 1.31

What to do with our large surplus is now beginning to agitate eastern speculators, and as the facility with which it can be disposed of is certain to greatly influence the price of grain at home, the question is also of more than passing interest to our farmers.

How will the foreign demand compare with last year when 139,550,305 bushels crossed the water for English and continental consumption? Great Britain will require 106,000,000 bushels to make up the deficit in her own harvest and France will only fall short 4,000,000 bushels in her local supply.

There is, however, good reason to believe that this is not the case. Our short crop of last year was thoroughly exhausted, and millers are even now drawing upon the new harvest. The fact that no surplus of old wheat has been carried over to this year has not been sufficiently taken into account in estimating the probable demand for home consumption, and those who are predicting unusually low prices for our present crop may find their figures seriously demoralized before winter opens up sharply.

The Business Outlook. St. Louis Dispatch. With abundant crops and great activity in trade, there is still an occasional cry of "Danger ahead," as there always is. Reports that good crops are general in Europe have somewhat reduced the expectations in regard to our export of food products, and been followed by a downward tendency in our produce markets.

Cereals, however, constitute less than a fourth of our total exports, and a fair demand for them from Europe is to be expected at some time during the year, in spite of the good crops over there; for a good yield on that side of the water still leaves a large deficit to be supplied from abroad, and at the same time increases the ability to purchase it. Even a considerable falling off in our cereal export, therefore, is likely to be compensated for by more liberal sales of our other products for European consumption.

There is nothing at all alarming in the footings of our foreign trade for the year ending June 30, 1912, certainly nothing to indicate that we shall not do better this year. True, we purchased more freely abroad than we ever did before, and a good deal of the increase was in the form of luxuries, while short crops and the high prices of many reduced our food exports immensely. Still, though we imported $93,000,000 worth of sugar and molasses, and nearly $5,000,000 worth of potatoes, our merchandise exports exceeded our merchandise imports, and much of the latter was in the form of productive plant and raw material entering into manufactured articles, in the exportation of which there was a large increase over the preceding year.

This morning's telegrams from all the principal trade centers, and the clearings for the week, show a healthy activity in which the only drawback is the manifest disposition of the farmers to withhold their wheat from market at present prices. As the export demand continues steady and shows the ability of Europe to absorb freely of our surplus, while holders are not at all inclined to glut the market, the situation seems to favor a steady movement during the fall and winter without sharp changes in price. In general merchandise business is satisfactory and the purchasing has been strong, but conservative. There are no large accumulations of manufactured articles begging the market.

doing well, and it is hoped he will be around in a few weeks again. Mrs. A. E. Bruce, formerly of the Bellow House, has gone to Seward. Nyeum Bros. & Co. have dissolved, and J. C. Paxton of the old firm is continuing the business at the old stand, with a general store. T. Nyeum Bros. have bought the postoffice grocery. Rev. Beal of Lincoln, has accepted the charge of the young Congregational church here. The public school will open early in October. Charlie Green, 12 years of age, who was run over by a wagon with 45 bushels of wheat, two weeks ago, is all right again and seems to be getting well, although the wheels passed across his body. Col. A. Roberts has his new elevator in good working order. The Independent will soon move across the railroad track, and the Reichbach Bros. will soon open a bank in the building now used as a printing house. Dr. F. Engelhardt has made a political platform and put himself out as a candidate for assembly, and he seems to know how to make a platform that will take with the people. There were three alliances formed in one precinct near here last week. It is said there are three sisters living near here whose united weight is over a half a ton. There seems to be a soil and climate in Nebraska for good corn and strong healthy women, and no wonder the suffragists are likely to win next fall. It is a wonder that the council of Omaha will tinker away with $6 and $7 block granite when they can get it for $2. Somebody must be speculating. BUCKEYE.

VOICE OF THE STATE PRESS.

Birds of a Feather. The editor of this paper attended the convention held at the opera house in this city September 7th, at which place and time E. K. Valentine was nominated for congress. He was there when it was called to order and was present until after it adjourned. His excuse for remaining was simply to get a report of the proceedings. He was not faithful in this—the proceedings published last week in the Tribune do not embrace all that occurred there. Speeches were made by Gen. H. Roberts, ex-attorney general; Collins, of Buffalo county; Maj. Clarkson, of Colfax county, and many lesser lights who did not go onto the stage to emit their foul and nauseous vapors. Numerous persons have said those speeches were hardly printed in order that the men who were guilty of such foul-mouthed language would be set before the public in their proper light. This could not be done except incurring the liability of a heavy fine for publishing and circulating obscene literature. It is a sad commentary on the republican party that such a lot of men should lay claim to being representatives of its doctrines. To an outsider it would appear, from the manly and with which these slingers of bilgewater responded when they were called upon, that that the whole country had contributed a full quota of bummers to fill up the Valentine camp. It is a fact that there were many sincere and moral men in that convention, but a very large number of them became heavily disgusted with the disgraceful proceedings and withdrew before the adjournment. If Mr. Valentine himself is the man his bosom friends would have others believe him to be, he would have surprised such ungentlemanly actions as were indulged in, but no visible attempt was made and it stands as a detraction to his cause and a disgrace to civilization.

Sublime Oeque. Sinton Register. The callow youth who edits the Omaha Republican as directed by his masters, the U. P. railway company, is just now engaged in reading such detestable accounts of Senator Turner out of the republican party. According to his own admission, with reference to his application for a job on THE BEE, he would, if paid for it, just as soon laugh them to skies, and kick the other fellows. He is just now a great stickler for party, or rather a sectional fealty, though at one time he bolted(?) the national ticket himself. But the cheekiest thing of all is his demand that our senators should remove Judge Crouse from the collector's office. To appreciate the full cheekiness of this cheeky demand, it must be borne in mind that, for more than a year, this same youngster, in glaring headlines, persistently accused Senator Saunders of being a thief of the meanest kind—a purloiner of money entrusted to his hands for the benefit of destitute settlers. Afterwards he took it back and acknowledged that he had lied concerning a thing he knew nothing about. Mr. Nye is broad and unfeeling and unscrupulous and unfaithful to his trust, and merged it that it is scarcely perceptible to the naked eye.

A Small Souled Knave. Kearney Nonpareil. No county or party was ever made or saved by such political leeches and "top suckers" as Fred Nye and his cohorts. When has ever Fred Nye done anything or enunciated a principle which has been of any value to the people or party, and now as a clerk to a whisky-bloated monopoly congressman, to demand of the President and our senators the removal of such men as Crouse and the reading out of the party name and Turner and Nye is enough to justify any honest man in leaving not only the republican party, but any other organization in which such a snide as Fred Nye can dictate either the party leaders or its principles.

MINDEN ITEMS.

The Kearney County Farmers' alliance met at the court house Saturday, September 16th, and elected five delegates to attend the State Alliance convention to be held in Hastings, September 26th. Last Thursday James Robinson, living a few miles west of this place, lost two fingers in a threshing machine. Dr. Blood dressed the wound. The building boom continues. Among a number of other buildings in a drug store being erected for parties from Kearney. The B. & M. surveyors have recently made two new surveys through our county. One through Minden, the other one mile north of our village. Kearney county carried off third premium at the state fair, for the best exhibit of farm products. The weather continues dry and windy, and prairie fires are becoming numerous. Several farmers in the county have already become heavy losers, among the number O. Norlin lost the larger share of his wheat crop and Charles Curtis about fifteen acres. Another farmer in the south part of the county lost his entire wheat crop, one pair of horses and farm implements.

NOTED BUT UNTOLD WOMAN.

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Plakham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is ardently devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life's duty, and is obliged to keep a lady's assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this. On account of its groves merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhoea, irregular and painful menstruation, all ovarian troubles, inflammation and Gleetion, Piles, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the young of life." It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes fatness, flaccidity, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach, B. C. C. Blotting, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Irritability. That feeling of bearing down, aching pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will, at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system. It costs only 25c per bottle or six for $1.50, and is sold by druggists. It is widely required as a special case, and the names of many who have been restored to health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass. For a kidney complaint of this kind this compound is unsurpassed as an abundant testimonial show. "Mrs. Plakham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonder in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity. All rest respect to any amount of misery whose sole ambition is to do good to others." Mrs. A. M. D. Philadelphia, Pa. (12)
